

The monument is raised above the water, emphasizing its lightness. It rises above water level, and it never overflows. The writing is on the bottom of the construction : "William Butler Yeats (1865-1839), who longed for the island." .At night, the form of the perfect circle shines with lights that work with solar cells.

